Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-15, drawn to a method of transforming a cell, classified in class 435, subclass 470, for example.
- II. Claims 16-17, drawn to a method for making a plant protoplast, classified in class 435, subclass 421, for example.
- III. Claim 18, drawn to a transformed organism, classified in class 800, subclass 298, for example.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because:

Inventions I and III are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product can be made by a materially different process such as particle bombardment without laser pretreatment, Agrobacterium-mediated transformation, electroporation, microinjection without laser pretreatment, etc.

Inventions I and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions have different modes of operation and different functions. The invention of Group I requires transformation methods and foreign genetic material, each not required by Group II. The invention of Group II requires methods of stripping plant cell walls, not required by Group I which encompasses wall-less animal cells. Furthermore, the protoplasts of Group II could be used in a method other than the transformation method of Group I, such as reagents for cell fusions or as seed cultures for suspension cultures, for plant cloning.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, classification, and fields of search, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

If either Group I or Group III above is elected, the following election of species requirement is applied.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

A) Methods of making transformed plants, claims 1-15 (Group I); and the resultant transformed plants, claim 18 (Group III).

B) Methods of making transformed animals, claims 1 and 4-15 (Group I); and the resultant transformed animals, claim 18 (Group III).

Transformed plants and animals are physiologically, biochemically and genetically divergent organisms, each requiring divergent methods of transformation and culture, not required by the other.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 1 and 4-15, and claim 18, are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35

U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
